PAC-10 BASEBALL HISTORY

Throughout most of the Pac-10's history (as the PCC, AAWU, Pac-8 and the Pac-10), the conference's teams have been split into two divisions for baseball. In fact, since 1923, the league had operated as a whole for only three seasons, 1967-69 before the 1999 reunification. From 1970 to 1978, when Arizona and Arizona joined to make the Pac-8 into the Pac-10, the league had two-four team baseball divisions.

In 1982, the four-team Northern Division increased to seven when Oregon dropped baseball and four schools were added on a baseball-only basis (Eastern Washington, Gonzaga, Portland and Portland State).

In 1991, Eastern dropped its program, giving the Pac-10 two six-team divisions. The North then consisted of Gonzaga, Oregon State, Portland, Portland State, Washington and Washington State. After 1995, the Northern Division went back to four teams as Gonzaga and Portland left to join the West Coast Conference.

From 1995 to 1998, the champs of the Northern Division and Southern Division played a three-game series for the Pac-10 Championship. Washington played in the the 1996, 1997 and 1998 series, winning the last two.

In 1999, the Pac-10 returned to playing as a unified conference with no divisions for the first season since 1969. Since the '99 season, there had been no changes until 2009, as Oregon's program will resume play this year. Each team playing the other nine teams three times each.
