

The Pacific-10 Conference

Entering the 2003-04 season, the Pacific-10 Conference continues to uphold its tradition as the "Conference of Champions."® Pac-10 members have claimed an incredible 73 NCAA team titles over the past nine seasons, for an average of more than eight championships per academic year.

Even more impressive is the breadth of the Pac-10's success, as those 73 team titles over the past nine seasons have come in 21 different men's and women's sports. The Pac-10 has now led the nation in NCAA Championships 38 of the last 43 years and finished second five times.

Spanning nearly a century of outstanding athletics achievement, the Pac-10 has captured 323 NCAA titles (243 men's, 82 women's), far outdistancing the runner-up Big Ten Conference's 193 titles.

The Conference's reputation is further proven in the annual NACDA Directors' Cup competition, the prestigious award that honors the best overall collegiate athletics programs in the country. STANFORD continued its remarkable run in the 2002-03 season, winning its ninth consecutive NACDA Directors' Cup. In the 2002-03 competition, four of the top 10, and seven of the top 20 Division I programs, were Pac-10 members: No. 1 STANFORD, No. 6 UCLA, No. 9 CALIFORNIA, No. 10 ARIZONA STATE, No. 13 USC, No. 16 ARIZONA and No. 17 WASHINGTON.

The Pac-10 captured eight NCAA titles in 2002-03, most of any conference. The Pac-10 total of eight edged out the Southeastern Conference, which was runnerup with seven NCAA crowns. No other conference earned more than three NCAA championships. The Pac-10 had the most NCAA titles of any conference in women's sports with five, and tied with the SEC for most in men's sports with three. NCAA team champions from the Pac-10 in 2002-03 came from: Stanford (men's water polo, men's cross country), UCLA (men's soccer, gymnastics, women's water polo, softball), and USC (volleyball, women's golf). The Pac-10 also had runners-up in eight NCAA Championship events: California (men's water polo, softball), Stanford (baseball, men's soccer, women's cross country, women's volleyball, women's water polo, women's tennis). Overall, the Conference had 23 teams finish in the top three at NCAA Championship events.

Participation in the postseason was a common occurrence for the Pac-10 in 2002-03. Of the 22 sports sponsored by the Pac-10, 19 witnessed at least half its teams participating in the postseason. The men sent 64 of a possible 87 teams into the postseason (73.6 percent), while the women sent 78 of a possible 99 teams into NCAA Tournament action (78.8 percent).

The Pac-10 experienced continued success in football as the league sent six teams to bowl games. USC won the Nokia Sugar Bowl, and Trojan quarterback Carson Palmer became the eighth player from the Pac-10 to win the Heisman Trophy. WASHINGTON STATE represented the Conference in the Rose Bowl, while ARIZONA STATE, UCLA, OREGON, OREGON STATE, and WASHINGTON also earned bowl bids. Overall, the Conference posted a stellar 32-15 (.681) record versus non-conference foes in 2002.

The Pac-10 also showed its worth on the basketball court, as it sent five teams into the Men's NCAA Tournament where Arizona advanced to the Elite Eight. It was the second consecutive year in which a Pac-10 team appeared in the round of eight.

The Pac-10 Men's Basketball Tournament returned to Los Angeles, with Oregon making a run through the tourney to earn the NCAA automatic bid. On the women's side, Pac-10 champion Stanford won the second Conference Tournament in San Jose, defeating Arizona in the hard fought final.

The Conference continued its dominance in softball as all eight teams made it to the NCAA Regional Tournament for the third time, marking the fifth consecutive season the Pac-10 has sent at least seven teams to regionals. Arizona, California, UCLA and Washington made it to the Women's College World Series where the defending NCAA champion Golden Bears and Bruins battled for the national title, the 10th time Conference teams have faced each other in the championship game, and the 20th time in 22 years the Pac-10 has sent at least one team to the title game. The Bruins persevered to win their ninth NCAA softball crown.

During the season, the Conference also added to its golf history as USC garnered the women's title. Women's volleyball was another showcase of Pac-10 talent, as a record eight teams were selected for the NCAA Tournament. USC and Stanford marched to the Final Four, marking the ninth time the Conference has placed two or more teams in the national semifinals. For the fifth time since 1992, the NCAA Volleyball Final involved two Pac-10 teams, with USC outlasting Stanford for its second NCAA title. In all, five NCAA Championship games/matches in 2002-03 involved two Pac-10 squads: men's soccer, volleyball, men's & women's water polo and softball.

On the men's side, Pac-10 members have won 243 NCAA Team Championships, far ahead of the 184 claimed by the runner-up Big Ten. Men's NCAA crowns have come at a phenomenal rate for the Pac-10 - 15 basketball titles by five schools (more than any other conference), 48 tennis titles, 45 outdoor track and field crowns, and 24 baseball titles. Pac-10 members have won 23 of the last 34 NCAA titles in volleyball, 29 of the last 44 in water polo, and 20 total swimming and diving national championships.

Individually, the Conference has produced an impressive number of NCAA men's individual champions as well, claiming 1071 NCAA individual crowns.

On the women's side, the story is much the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 22 years ago, Pac-10 members have claimed at least four national titles in a single season on 14 occasions. Overall, the Pac-10 has captured 82 NCAA women's crowns, easily outdistancing the Southeastern Conference, which is second with 58. Pac-10 members have dominated a number of sports, winning 16 softball titles, 14 tennis crowns, eight of the last 13 volleyball titles, ten of the last 14 trophies in golf and eight of the last 14 in swimming and diving.

Pac-10 women athletes shine nationally on an individual basis as well, capturing an unmatched 404 NCAA individual titles, an average of nearly 19 champions per season.

The roots of the Pacific-10 Conference go back nearly 87 years to December 15, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland, Ore. Original membership consisted of four schools - the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916. One year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University), was accepted into the Conference, and Stanford University joined in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California and the University of Idaho. Montana joined the Conference in 1924, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-team league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45, when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference. The PCC continued as a nine-team Conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and a new Conference was formed - the Athletic Association of Western Universities. Original AAUW membership consisted of California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA, and Washington. Washington State became a member in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. In 1968, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted.

Ten years later, on July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports.

Currently, the Pac-10 sponsors 11 men's sports and 11 women's sports. Additionally, the Conference is a member of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and two other women's sports.

Edwin N. Atherton was named the Conference's first Commissioner in 1940. He has been succeeded by Victor O. Schmidt (1944), Thomas J. Hamilton (1959), Wiles Hallock (1971), and current Commissioner Thomas C. Hansen in 1983.

The Pacific-10 Conference offices are located 25 miles east of San Francisco in Walnut Creek, Calif.
