WASHINGTON WAY

The Pacific-10 Conference has agreements with six bowl partners. The lineup is led by the Rose Bowl, which is the destination for the Pac-10 champion, unless said champion is ranked No. 1 of No. 2 in the final Bowl Championship Series rankings. If that were the case, the Pac-10 champion would play in the BCS National Championship Game which this year will be played in New Orleans following the Allstate Sugar Bowl. Regardless of the disposition of the Pac-10 champion, a second Pac-10 team may be selected for an at-large berth in the Bowl Championship Series in any given year and other Pac-10 bowl partner arrangements provide for that occurrence.

In addition to the Rose Bowl, Pac-10 bowl partners include the Pacific Life Holiday Bowl, Vitalis Sun Bowl, Pioneer PureVision Las Vegas Bowl, Emerald Bowl and Bell Helicopter Armed Forces Bowl. Following is a summary of the Pac-10 bowl arrangements for the 2007-08 season:

1. Rose Bowl / BCS

In three of four seasons, the Pac-10 champion goes to the Rose Bowl, unless such champion is ranked No. 1 or 2 in the final BCS standings at the conclusion of the regular season. In that case, it would play in the new BCS National Championship Game, which will be played in New Orleans, La., this year.

2. Pacific Life Holiday Bowl

After the Pac-10 champion goes to the Rose Bowl (or BCS Championship Game), the Pacific Life Holiday

If there is a tie for that position, the Vitalis Sun Bowl has the right to select from between or among the tied teams.

4. Emerald Bowl

After the berths in the Rose, Pacific Life Holiday and Vitalis Sun are filled, the Emerald Bowl in San Francisco, Calif., receives the highest remaining team in the Pac-10 standings. If there is a tie for that position, the Emerald Bowl has the right to select from between or among the tied teams.

5. Pioneer Las Vegas Bowl

After the berths in the Rose, Pacific Life Holiday, Vitalis Sun and Emerald Bowls are filled, the Pioneer Las Vegas Bowl in Las Vegas, Nev., receives the highest remaining team in the Pac-10 standings. WASHINGTON WAY

Husky First-Team All-Americans

Reggie Williams, 2002

Associated Press, Football Writers, ESPN.com

The most prolific receiver in Washington history, Williams in just three seasons crushed the Huskies' career records for receptions (238) and receiving yards (3,536). Those totals were highlighted by an All-America 2002 season in which the Lakewood, Wash., native tallied 94 catches and 1,454 yards, the latter total just two yards shy of the Pac-10 single-season record. Williams' first two seasons at Washington were, statistically, the best two-year run of any receiver in Pac-10 history, with no other conference wideout boasting more receptions, yards and touchdowns in any two-year period. After returning in 2003 to climb to second on the Pac-10's career lists for receptions and receiving yards, Williams was drafted eighth overall by the Jacksonville Jaguars in the 2004 NFL Draft.

Larry Tripplett, 2001

Football News

Tripplett led Washington to a 26-10 record in three seasons as a starter on the defensive line, starting 36 consecutive games from 1999-2001. He earned All-Pac-10 first team honors in each of his final two seasons. He was dominating in Washington's run to the 2001 Rose Bowl Championship, including an outstanding performance against Colorado that earned him National Defensive Player of the Week honors. One of 12 semifinalists for the 2001 Rotary Lombardi Award, he tallied a career-best 14 tackles for loss in 2001. He was selected by the Indianapolis Colts in the second round of the 2002 NFL Draft.

Chad Ward, 2000

Associated Press, Walter Camp Football Foundation, Football News, The Sporting News

Earned first-team All-America honors after leading Washington to its first Rose Bowl title since 1992 and a postseason No. 3 ranking. One of six seniors on the offensive line in 2000, Ward earned Morris Trophy honors as the Pac-10's best offensive lineman, helping the Huskies to rush for a Pac-10 best 211.7 yards per game en route to an 11-1 record. A three-time All-Pac-10 honoree, Ward started every game in his Husky career, and was drafted in the 6th round by Jacksonville.

Olin Kreutz, 1997

Associated Press, Walter Camp Football Foundation, Football News, The Sporting News (Consensus All-American)

A fiery team leader who proved to be a dominating force on the Huskies offensive line. In addition to his All-American honors, he was voted the Pac-10's Morris Trophy winner as the league's top offensive lineman. A two-time first-team All-Pac-10 pick, Kreutz helped the Huskies to lead the league in sacks allowed in 1997. He declared for the NFL draft after his junior season and was selected by the Chicago Bears in the third round.

Benji Olson earned All-America honors in 1996 and 1997.

Benji Olson, 1996 & 1997

Associated Press (1996, '97), The Sporting News (1996), Football News (1996) and Walter Camp Football Foundation (1997)

The first two-time All-American offensive lineman in UW history. Even more impressive was the fact that Olson was named an All-American as both a sophomore and junior before declaring for the NFL draft prior to his senior season. As a sophomore, he paved the way for running back Corey Dillon, who rushed for a school record 1,555 yards and 22 touchdowns, and provided protection for the quarterbacks as the team allowed only 18 sacks, the second fewest in the Pac-10. As a junior he rallied from off-season back surgery to help the team led the Pac-10 in sacks allowed and figure third in total offense. He was a first-team All-Pac-10 selection in both 1996 and 1997 and was named the team's John P. Angel Offensive Lineman of the Year (1996). He was drafted by the Tennessee Oilers in the fifth round of the 1998 NFL draft.

Jerome Pathon, 1997

Football Coaches

Jerome Pathon had the most productive season ever by a Husky wide receiver in 1997. He set UW single-season records for receptions (69) and receiving yards (1,245) to become the first Husky receiver since Mario Bailey in 1991 to earn first-team All-America honors. Pathon's yardage total was the second most-receiving yards in a Pac-10 season, trailing only USC's Johnnie Morton's 1,373 yards from the 1993 campaign. Pathon finished his career second on UW's career receiving yardage list (2,063) and was fourth in career receptions (125). He was drafted by the Indianapolis Colts in the second round of the 1998 NFL draft.

Jason Chorak, 1996The Sporting News, Football News

Jason Chorak, a defensive end with Croatian heritage, had one of the most stellar defensive seasons in Husky history in 1996. He was named the Pac-10 Conference's Defensive Player of the Year after recording a team record and conference leading 14.5 sacks and a team record 22 tackles for loss. Chorak was a third-team All-America selection by the Associated Press. He was named a second-team All-American by the Football News in 1997. He finished his career as a two-time first-team All-Pac-10 performer. He had 59.5 tackles for loss during his career to rank No. 1 on Washington's all-time list. His 25.5 career sacks ranks as the third best mark in UW history.

Lawyer Milloy, 1995*Football Writers Association of America, Football News, Walter Camp Association, Associated Press, United Press International, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Kodak Coaches, and The Sporting News Consensus All-American

Lawyer Milloy was a multi-talented athlete who became the first Husky defensive back to lead Washington in tackles in back-to-back seasons, recording 115 in his last year as a junior. He was named the nation's Defensive Back of the Year by the Touchdown Club of Columbus and was one of three finalists for the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. A two-time first-team All-Pac-10 free safety, Milloy was awarded the Chuck Niemi Big Hit Award in 1995. Milloy declared for the NFL draft after his highly decorated junior season and was selected by the New England Patriots in the second round as the 36th pick overall.

Mark Bruener, 1993*Newspaper Enterprise Association

As a junior in 1993, Mark Bruener led the Husky receivers in receptions (30), yards (414), touchdowns (three), and long catch (66). He was the first tight end to lead the Huskies in receptions since John Brady did it in 1972 with 30. Bruener recorded his only career 100-yard and multiple touchdown game in the 1993 season opener versus Stanford, gaining 101 yards and scoring two touchdowns. He was also named a first-team All-Pac-10 selection. Bruener eventually went on to become the school's career receptions leader by a tight end with 90.

Dave Hoffmann, 1991 & 1992*Football News, Football Writer's Association, and Kodak Coaches

A linebacker known for his intensity and ferocious hitting, Dave Hoffmann became the first Husky since Rick Redman in 1963 and 1964 to be named a first-team All-American in consecutive seasons. He collected numerous other honors his senior season including the Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year award, the Husky Tyee Club Football Athlete of the Year award, the KIRO Pete Gross player of the year award, and the Guy Flaherty Most Inspirational Award. He led the Huskies in tackles his final three seasons, the first Husky to accomplish that since David Rill from 1985 to 1987. Hoffman finished his collegiate career number three on the Husky all-time list for tackles-for-loss with 45.

Lincoln Kennedy was a unanimous All-American in 1992.*Lincoln Kennedy, 1992*Associated Press, United Press International, Kodak Coaches, Football News, Walter Camp Football Foundation, Sporting News Consensus All-American

Note: Washington had one Pacific-10 Conference Player of the Year who was not a first-team all-conference selection prior to 1983 when Offensive and Defensive Players were first named. Warren Moon shared Pacific-10 Conference Player of the Year honors with Stanford quarterback Guy Benjamin in 1977. Benjamin was the first-team All-Pacific-10 Conference selection at quarterback that year.

The Morris Trophy (Pac-10 Lineman of the Year)

The Morris Trophy is awarded annually to the top offensive and defensive linemen in the Pac-10 Conference. What makes the award unique is its voting system. The league's offensive players vote on the top defensive lineman and the defensive players select the top offensive lineman. The annual presentation is made during the Million Dollar Banquet each February in Santa Clara, Calif..

Husky Stadium

Consistently voted the most scenic football structure in the nation, Husky Stadium has proven to be an imposing opponent for visitors hoping to pin a loss on Washington's gridiron heroes.

Nestled high above Union Bay on Lake Washington, Husky Stadium has several characteristics that make it unique among stadia.

- A seating capacity of 72,500 allows Husky Stadium to rank as the nation's 15th largest on-campus facility. It is the largest stadium, college or professional, in the Pacific Northwest.

- With nearly 70 percent of the seats located between the endzones, Husky Stadium can be one of the loudest stadiums in the nation. During the 1992 Nebraska contest — the second night game in Husky Stadium history — ESPN sideline crews measured the crowd noise at 135 decibels.

- Tailgating takes on a whole new meaning at Husky Stadium. Boat moorings are available for fans to travel to Washington games via the water. Members of the Husky rowing team shuttle fans back-and-forth between their vessels and the docks adjoining the stadium grounds.

- The north upper deck offers sweeping views of Mt. Rainier, the Olympic Mountain Range and downtown Seattle.

- Washington has won 77 of its last 106 games (one tie) in Husky Stadium, a streak which encompasses a school record 17-straight home victories. The Huskies have won 70 percent of their home games in the stadium, posting an overall record of 342-151-21. Since 1980, the Huskies boast a 125-39-2 (.759) record at their home.

Built in 1920 at a cost of $600,000, the stadium's initial capacity was listed at 30,000.

The stadium was opened in the dedication game, November 27, 1920, when Dartmouth defeated Washington, 28-7. A student fund drive, in which students and businessmen sold plaques at $50 and $100 levels, provided the capital necessary to get the project off the ground.

Two members of the stadium committee were dispatched east to study an existing report on stadia. Their determination called for a seating capacity of 60,000, to be constructed in two units. One of the key factors in the layout of the stadium was "the establishment of the longitudinal axis." The goal was to "avoid as far as possible the glare of the sun in the stadium for the benefit of the players."

To accomplish this goal, the astronomy department figured the angle of the rays of the sun at 4 p.m., November 24, 1920. Based on those measurements, the axis of the stadium was approximately set at right angles to the rays which established the axis at 71 degrees, 50 minutes west of north. The final components in figuring the stadium location were figuring the best views of the lake and mountains from the interior and working within the existing confines of the land.

Puget Sound Bridge and Dredging Company was contracted to build the structure. The original contract to begin construction was signed May 7, 1920, and called for work to be complete by November 27 for the Dartmouth game — a timetable of six months and 20 days. A unique method of excavation known as sluicing — in which earth is displaced by high pressure water — was used to clear the area. In all, 230,000 cubic yards of earth was moved using 687,000,000 gallons of water. The original crown on the playing field reached a height of 18 inches.

Plans for the stadium called for a four-lane track (including a 220-yard straightaway) and the structural drawings called for stands that would allow patrons to "view the entire running track without rising or having his view obstructed by the person sitting adjacent to him." The study resulted in an elliptical form.

A "sunken passage" was built to separate the fans from the field while also providing drainage for the field and facility. Drainage was a major concern of construction since it was calculated that one inch of rain fall on the structural portion of the stadium would accumulate 36,000 gallons of water.

The aisles and seating patterns were planned so that the original capacity crowd of 30,000 could exit the stadium in seven minutes.

The stadium was completed on time despite 46 days of rain during the construction period. Final work was finished 12 hours before kickoff of the inaugural game.

The stadium experienced further growth in 1936 when 10,000 above-grade seats were added around the rim of the structure, upping capacity to 40,000.

In 1950, Husky Stadium was again expanded when roof-covered stands were added to the south side. Approximately 15,000 additional seats, at a cost of $1.7 million, offered excellent viewing between the goal posts.

A cantilevered steel roof partially covered all seats in the upper deck and approximately 6,000 seats in the lower stands. In the rear of the structure, two silo-shaped ramps provided access to the upper deck concourses.

The two-level press box and camera deck areas, installed as part of the 1950 project, affords approximately 75 members of the press a view 165 feet above the stadium floor.

Stadium capacity jumped from 55,000 to more than 59,000 in 1968 when 3,000 seats were added to the north rim and portable bleachers were installed beyond the east end zone. AstroTurf replaced the old grass field in 1968, the same year an all-weather track was installed around the football playing field. Washington was the first major college to install an AstroTurf field. At the time, the Houston Astrodome was the only other facility to use the playing surface. Because of the lack of similar fields, the Huskies stocked over 200 pairs of shoes for opponents to use during games. The original artificial turf was replaced in 1972, 1977, 1987, and again in 1995.

In 1987, Husky Stadium expanded once again, adding 13,000 new seats. The $13 million project, performed by Lydig Construction of Spokane, brought the capacity to 72,500. The hallmark facet of the construction was a glass-enclosed reception area with a field view from goal line to goal line. Besides serving as an entertainment center on game days, the Don James Center has the capability to host major banquets or social events.

In 1989, all major construction in Husky Stadium was concluded with the replacement of the west stands. The $3.7 million facelift gives Husky fans better seating, more concession stands and restrooms, a new first aid room, police security area and photo deck.

During the summer of 1990, the wooden bleachers in the north upper deck were replaced with new aluminum seating. The same process was repeated for the south upper deck in the summer of 1992.

In preparation for the 1990 Goodwill Games, Husky Stadium became the beneficiary of a brand new eight-lane synthetic surface track in the summer of '89. The $1.5 million gift from the Seattle Organizing Committee provided athletes with a world-class facility in which to host the Games' track and field competition and the opening and closing ceremonies.

In the summer of 2000, in preparation for the Seattle Seahawks' two-year stay at Husky Stadium, synthetic FieldTurf was installed to replace the AstroTurf blanketing the stadium since 1968, thanks to a gift from Seahawks owner Paul Allen. New television lights were installed in 1999.

Postcards of Husky Stadium throughout the years.

What They're Saying About Husky Stadium

"It's always loud, but this game was really loud, especially at crunch time. When they start stomping and clapping, you can feel the metal rattle in your helmet."

— David Richie, Washington defensive tackle, on the 1995 Army game

"70,000 screaming, yelling and stomping — that crowd was probably the biggest difference. The acoustics here are amazing, a huge factor. I've been around C-130 transports a lot, and this almost felt like I was on a runway."

— Army defensive tackle Al Roberts

"Washington's ability to attract fans in an urban area speaks to the overall tradition, size, and influence of the university. Huskies are everywhere. It speaks also to the unique venue and experience that is Husky Stadium, the stroll down from the hill and through the campus, the mountains melting with the horizon, the boats, the lake, the rain, the chill, the thrill of old-fashioned football."

— John Owens, Seattle Post-Intelligencer

"That's the loudest stadium I've ever played in. Being right next to the quarterback, I had a hard time hearing the cadence. A lot of times you find yourself just watching the football instead of going off the snap count. That's a huge disadvantage."

— Stanford guard Eric Heitmann

"You just wanted to get out of there and get to the field. But once you were let out, you ran into a stadium where it was so loud you couldn't hear a teammate who stood right next to you. It's as if the Christians were being fed to the lions for the enjoyment of the Coliseum crowd. Very intimidating."

— Rod Gilmore, former Stanford player and ESPN College Football Analyst

"I knew it would be a very, very difficult place to play. But I thought it was really a class atmosphere of Washington and I thought the fans, the administration — it was just a great environment. They were so rabid for their own team, but with real class. They didn't try to tear you down or anything else, but they cheered for their team and showed respect for Notre Dame and I think that is a very healthy environment."

— Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz after the 1995 Irish game at Washington

"The enthusiasm and intensity of the Husky crowd is unreal."

— Brady Brownlee, former Husky kicker

"Arizona and USC are nothing compared to (Husky) Stadium. It's three times as loud. There's no feeling like walking out of that tunnel and seeing 70,000 people booing you. I've tried to tell my teammates about it. I've said, 'We've played at Oregon and at Texas, but nothing can prepare you for Washington. You have to experience it.'"

— Stanford linebacker Riall Johnson

"I was there as a freshman and all you could see was 75,000 screaming people dressed in purple. Every one of those fans are against you. You face a third-and-one, they're yelling, and you hear echoes everywhere. It's a terrible situation and environment."

— Stanford defensive lineman Willie Howard

"I'd definitely say it's louder than Nebraska. Not because it's more people, but because the way the stadium is built. You can't try to anticipate a snap count. We're not going to be able to hear a word that the quarterback is saying. What we're going to have to do is look in at the ball, just like the receivers, and go when the ball moves."

— Colorado offensive lineman Victor Rogers

"That place gets as loud as any place I've ever been. They are the best fans that we'll encounter this season. They're the most loyal and most fanatical group, especially the University of Washington fans. They really are some of the best fans in America."

— Colorado tight end Adam Bledsoe

"We were stunned by the noise. A lot of guys weren't getting checks at the line. (Ken) Dorsey's a smart player, but the noise kind of hurt him."

— Miami tackle Joaquin Gonzalez

"It can be intimidating. It's a loud place, but that gets me fired up the most. It's tough on the offense because the crowd is so loud."

— California defensive lineman Jacob Waasdrop

1991 National Champions

holding Stanford's Heisman candidate Glyn Milburn to only 16 yards on 11 carries as the Stanford offense managed just 238 yards on the day and turned the ball over six times.

In one of the most anticipated games of the early part of the college football season, fourth-ranked Washington traveled to Nebraska to face the ninth-ranked Cornhuskers. The Huskies fell behind 14-6 at the half to a team that had won 20 consecutive times on its home field. Events only got worse for the visitors when Nebraska's Derek Brown scored after UW muffed a punt on its own two-yard-line. That's where Washington began its greatest comeback of the season.

Behind Hobert's passing and play calling, early in the fourth quarter Washington took a 22-21 lead when McKay scored on an eight-yard toss. His second TD run of the game, with 7:26 remaining gave the Huskies an eight-point lead before an 81-yard run by Barry finished the game's scoring. The Husky defense stymied any Cornhusker comeback, creating two Nebraska turnovers. By the end of the contest the Huskies had reeled off 27 unanswered points and gained 618 yards of total offense.

"Their defense is dominant. Steve Emtman has to be the best lineman in the country. Nobody blocks him and the folks around him are great football players. Washington is as good a team as the Pac-10 has had, ever."

– Dick Tomey, Arizona head coach

Opponents were overwhelmed by Washington's defense in its first three home contests of the season. The Husky defense turned in a spectacular effort against Kansas State, holding the Wildcats to three points and negative 17 yards on the ground. Washington's offense scored in six of its first seven possessions en route to a 56-3 win that also featured the return of Brunell to action as a backup.

Arizona's luck against Washington was even worse the following week as the Huskies parlayed seven Wildcat turnovers into 27 points and held a potent Arizona rushing attack to just 30 yards. Emtman reaped havoc on the Arizona offense, rocking quarterback George Malaualu for losses on Arizona's first two plays from scrimmage. The Huskies went on to hold the Wildcats to only 142 yards of offense and handed the Wildcats their worst defeat in history by a score of 54-0. The following week Mario Bailey hauled in three touchdowns as Washington recorded its second straight shutout, holding Toledo to just 48 rushing yards in a 48-0 win.

Upstart California, ranked seventh nationally, was the Huskies next big roadblock. Before a packed stadium in Berkeley, the Bears got on the scoreboard first when Sean Dawkins carried a Mike Pawlawski pass into the endzone near the end of the first period. Washington answered with a 35-yard touchdown pass from Hobert to Bailey to even the score. Washington took the lead on a short field goal by Travis Hanson before the Bears answered with their own 50-yard boot.

A potent offensive squad and an athletic defense came together to create a team that finished the 1991 season a perfect 12-0 to give Washington its first National Championship.

Offensively, the Husky running game was powered by the duo of Beno Bryant and Jay Barry, who helped Washington to average over 230 yards per game. They were complemented by sophomore quarterback Billy Joe Hobert, who proved he could run the ball when he was not throwing strikes to All-America receivers Mario Bailey or Orlando McKay. Senior center Ed Cunningham, All-American tackle Lincoln Kennedy, and Siupeli Malamala led an offensive line that enabled the Huskies to muster more than 470 yards of total offense a game, the best mark in the Pac-10. At the end of the season, five offensive players were named first or second-team All-Pac-10.

Consensus All-American Steve Emtman led one of the stingiest defenses college football has ever seen. Washington allowed less than 10 points a game while holding opposing rushers to 67 yards a game. The Huskies' defense swarmed the ball on every play with raw athleticism coming from every angle. Donald Jones, Andy Mason, Chico Fraley, Jaime Fields, Brett Collins and Dave Hoffmann created a wall few backs could penetrate. Waiting in the secondary was the backfield of Shane Pahukoa, Tommie Smith, Dana Hall and Walter Bailey. They did their share to create a defense that ranked first in the country in turnover margin.

Washington started the season with a pair of formidable challenges on the road, opening at Stanford and Nebraska. Making his starting debut after 1991 Rose Bowl MVP Mark Brunell suffered a knee injury during the spring, Hobert found Bailey in the endzone to give Washington a 21-7 lead at halftime following a scoreless first quarter and a pair of rushing scores by Bryant and Barry. The defense gained national attention in its opening performance by Washington took a lead into the locker room when Barry scored at the end of the half on a nine-yard run. Cal evened things up at the end of the third quarter when Lindsey Chapman raced 68 yards for a score.

The Huskies answered with their own big-play score when Bryant raced 65 yards on the next possession to give Washington a 24-17 lead. Cal made one last charge, but Husky cornerback Walter Bailey broke up a Pawlawski pass at the goal line on the final play of the game to ensure the win.

Jumping to third in the polls, the Huskies returned to Husky Stadium for a pair of home contests against Oregon and Arizona State. Washington frustrated the Ducks, holding them scoreless for the first 55 minutes of the game and limiting them to 129 yards of total offense in a 29-7 win highlighted by three Travis Hanson field goals.

The Sun Devils did not fare any better as the Huskies rattled off the first 41-points en route to a 44-16 win.

Heading back on the road for two of the last three contests of the regular season, the second-ranked Huskies went to the LA Memorial Coliseum to face the Trojans, who were looking for revenge after a 31-0 loss in 1990 at Husky Stadium. Bryant, a Los Angeles native, gave the Huskies all they would need with a pair of first-half touchdown runs to propel Washington to a 14-3 victory. The following week, Oregon State was defenseless as Bailey scored three times to lead Washington to a 58-6 win.

"I said it before the game that Washington is the best team I've seen in this league, ever, and I still stand by that. I thought we made them work for it. The main problem was we couldn't move the football against them."

– Rich Brooks, Oregon head coach

The Huskies completed their perfect regular season with a convincing 56-11 victory over cross-state rival Washington State in the annual Apple Cup match-up. Seven different Husky players scored touchdowns in addition to a sack of Cougar quarterback Drew Bledsoe in the endzone by Jaime Fields.

"There is no question in my mind that Washington is the best team in the country. They've got a balanced offense, a fantastic defense and they're strong in the kicking game. In my years of experience, I haven't seen a better overall team."

Tied for the top ranking in the country heading into a showdown with Michigan in the Rose Bowl, the Huskies were ready to defend their crown in Pasadena against a high-powered offensive attack led by Heisman Trophy winner Desmond Howard. Hobert, who had been getting the job done all season by running and passing, gave Washington an early lead with a two-yard touchdown run. A Michigan touchdown and a pair of Travis Hanson field goals gave Washington a 13-7 lead at the half.

The second half belonged to the Huskies. A touchdown to freshman tight end Mark Bruener late in the third quarter started the onslaught. Early in the fourth, Hobert went back to the tight end, this time Aaron Pierce, to give Washington a 27-7 advantage. Mark Brunell then hit Bailey with a 38-yard touchdown strike to finish off Washington's 34-14 win and cap a perfect season.

Early the next morning Husky Head Coach Don James received a phone call in his hotel room informing him that the Huskies had been voted National Champions in the coaches' poll. It proved to be the perfect ending to a dream season for Washington.

While Washington and Miami shared the 1991 National Championship, it is interesting to note that the Huskies were voted national champs by three of the four major organizations that crown a national champion. The National Football Foundation, USA Today/CNN and Football Writers all voted the Huskies No. 1 in their respective polls. Miami's only first-place finish was in the Associated Press poll.

Could there be a more natural rivalry?
Huskies and Cougars.

The annual Washington-Washington State matchup is definitely one of the best rivalries in college football today. Up for grabs each year is the Apple Cup, a trophy sponsored by the Washington State Apple Commission and presented by the State's governor.

The series dates back to a 5-5 tie in Seattle in 1900, but only since 1962 has the winner been awarded the Apple Cup. Washington holds a 64-29-6 record in the 99-game series, and is 32-13 in Apple Cup games, including wins in seven of the last nine.

Like most rivalries, each game is a new chapter with unpredictable results, regardless of records, momentum or history. It is a game based more on emotion and determination than scouting reports and talent.

100th UW-WSU Game

This season's Apple Cup will be the 100th meeting between the Huskies and the Cougars. Throughout the season, and particularly in the week leading up to the game, a number of special events will be held to commemorate the occasion.

Though the schools are on opposite sides of the state, creating a geographic split among fans, the annual meeting splits the state in other ways — sometimes between members of the same family. Such was the case in 1990 when Husky freshman Travis Hanson waged a personal kicking battle with his brother Jason, the Cougars' All-American kicker.

But while individual stories give the Apple Cup its character, its enormity and magnitude come from the number of times the game has determined Rose Bowl fate for either team. In 1981 the two teams met in Seattle with a trip to Pasadena at stake along with the Apple Cup trophy — Washington prevailed 23-10.

Perhaps the most shocking upset in the series came in 1982 when the Huskies carried a 9-1 record and an eight-game Apple Cup winning streak into the contest, and needed only to defeat a 2-7-1 Cougar squad to make a third-straight Rose Bowl appearance.

Washington, which had held the No. 1 national ranking for seven weeks earlier in the season, had knocked off two top-10 teams in its previous two games and appeared to be on a roll to Pasadena. But the inspired Cougars, playing the Apple Cup at Martin Stadium for the first time since 1954, stunned the Huskies with a 24-20 defeat. The celebration in Pullman began immediately as Cougar fans poured onto the field to remove the goal posts, and carried them to the Palouse River for a trip downstream.

Washington seemed certain to take the lead and avoid the upset in the fourth quarter when All-American kicker Chuck Nelson set up for a 33-yard field goal with the Huskies trailing 21-20. But Nelson missed, halting his NCAA record for consecutive field goals at 30 as the Cougars went on to victory.

The 2000 Apple Cup again had the Rose Bowl on the line, with the 9-1 Huskies needing a win in Pullman to earn an invitation to the big game. Washington made sure from the start that there would be no upset, setting an Apple Cup record for victory margin with a 51-3 win.

If the '82 game was the most shocking, the '85 game in Husky Stadium goes down as one of the coldest on record. Snow fell in Seattle five days prior to kickoff and did not stop until there was more than a foot on the ground. The city was nearly paralyzed and the turf in Husky Stadium, while clear of snow, was frozen solid under the Arctic conditions. UW officials swept the snow from the seats and had to fill the toilets in the stadium with anti-freeze to keep them in working order.

The fans who braved the elements saw WSU running back Rueben Mayes skitter his way to 167 rushing yards as the Cougars defeated Washington 21-20.

The most impressive comeback in Apple Cup history belongs to the Huskies in 1975, when they turned a 27-14 deficit into a thrilling 28-27 victory in the final 3:01. The Cougars had the ball at the Husky 14-yard line and a chance to pad the lead, when they unexplicably put the ball in the air. Husky Al Burleson intercepted the ill-advised pass and returned it 93 yards for a touchdown. Washington then held the Cougars on their next possession and took over on their own 22-yard line with 1:56 remaining. One play later they led 28-27. On first down, Warren Moon passed the ball in the direction of a mob in the center of the field. It hit WSU's Tony Heath and ricocheted into the hands of Husky receiver Spider Gaines, who took it all the way for a 78-yard touchdown play. Two touchdowns in a little over a minute, and the Huskies were victorious in Don James' first Apple Cup.

In 1995 and 1996, fans were treated to wild Apple Cup finishes. The 1995 affair was settled with just over a minute to play when John Wales booted a 21-yard field goal to give Washington a 33-30 victory. Rashaan Shehee ran for 212 yards and three scores for the Huskies while Cougar quarterback Ryan Leaf, in his first career start, passed for 291 yards and one score.

In 1996, in Pullman, the Huskies jumped out to a 24-point lead in the third quarter thanks to Corey Dillon's 155 rushing yards on 38 carries. Dillon recorded three TDs to cap his career. Cougar quarterback Ryan Leaf rallied WSU with 24 unanswered points and when Wales field goal was just left the game went into overtime. Brock Huard found Jerome Pathon for a three-yard score to give UW the lead. On fourth down, Leaf's pass to Chad Carpenter was caught just out of bounds to end the contest.

Apple Cup Barbs

There have been many zingers tossed out between the Cougars and Huskies over the years, regarding the Apple Cup and the cross-state rivalry. Here are a few of the most colorful:

"Do birds fly?"

—UW receiver Reggie Williams on if he expected to have a third big Apple Cup, 2003

"There are four important stages in your life. You're born, you play the Huskies, you get married and you die."

—WSU guard Dan Lynch, 1984

"I've always felt being a Cougar prepares you well for life. You learn not to expect too much."

—UW coach Don James, 1983

"They've got a lot of great dancers on their team. Too bad they can't hit as well as they dance."

—WSU's Timm Rosenbach after a 34-19 loss, 1987

"Nobody in the press box, no other coach made that decision. I made the choice. The kids thought we should try a pass. I stupidly agreed."

—WSU coach Jim Sweeney after miracle UW comeback, triggered by an interception, 1975

"I'm a 2,000-word underdog."

—Don James on Jim Walden, 1985

"I thought they might give it to me. Those are good at home, but we weren't at home."

—Chuck Nelson after first field-goal miss in 30 attempts, 1982

"Nothing in my job — not the Rose Bowls, not the Holiday Bowls, nothing — is more important than beating the University of Washington."

—WSU coach Jim Walden, 1982

"To just think about losing this game makes me want to puke. It would absolutely disgust me."

—UW guard Trevor Highfield, 1995

"When I don't feel like running that extra lap or doing the 20 extra reps on the bench press, the thing that motivates me is the Cougars."

—UW fullback Richard Thomas, 1995

"That's what Huskies do. They either win and they're obnoxious about it, or they lose and they have excuses."

—Former WSU player Robbie Tobeck, 2000
