FORMER UW COACHES

CHRISTINE BURKHART
(1974-75)

The first head coach for intercollegiate women's basketball at UW, Burkhart had two years of Husky coaching experience prior to the NCAA sanctioning of women's basketball. In the first season of NCAA competition, Burkhart led the Huskies to an 11-11 record, including a 3-1 record and third-place finish at the NCWSA Area Playoffs, advancing to the Regional Playoffs where they didn't place.

Burkhart graduated from the UW in 1971, majoring in physical education. She also played two seasons for the club team at the UW, leading the team in scoring both seasons. By request of the United States Women's Basketball Olympic Committee, she attended the Developmental Training Camp for Women's Basketball in Wooster, Ohio, in the summer of 1970.

KATHIE NEIR

Neir was the second coach in the history of women's basketball and had the third longest stint as the UW coach. She led the Huskies to the playoffs in her first three seasons. In 1976, they competed in the NCWSA Area Playoffs, but did not place. The following season, they reached the Regional Playoffs after a 22-4 regular season, placing third with a 3-2 record. In 1978 the Huskies finished 26-5 and won the NWBL Tournament and later finished fourth at the AIAW Western Sectionals.

In four seasons at Washington, Neir compiled an 82-31 (.726) record. She began coaching at Cabrillo High School in Lompoc, California, where she coached track and swimming. She then moved to the Seattle area and coached track and cross country at West Seattle High School, and later she coached for two years at Chief Sealth High School (basketball, track and cross country).

PAT DOBRATZ

Dobratz was at the helm for only one season, as an interim coach, after serving the previous season as an assistant coach. In her lone year as an interim coach, the Huskies broke even at 14-14 and advanced to the regional playoffs. The administration had decided prior to '79-80 season to conduct a national search to replace the departed coach, Kathie Neir.

Before her stint at UW, Dobratz was a graduate teaching assistant as well as an assistant coach under Judy Akers at Kansas State. She was also an outstanding collegiate athlete at South Dakota State, lettering nine times. She played on state championship teams in volleyball, tennis, and basketball, and was named South Dakota Female Athlete of the Year in 1974.

SUE KRUSZEWSKI (1980-83)

Kruszewski compiled a 50-34 (.595) record during three seasons with the Huskies. Following the 1981 season, she was nominated, and became one of the final 20 contenders for the Stayfree Coach of the Year, an annual award presented to the nation's outstanding women's basketball coach in the large college category.

She came to Washington with 20 years of coaching experience. Kruszewski built from scratch the women's basketball program at her alma mater, Detroit, in 1977. She constructed an 18-3 record in her first year as head coach (1977-78), then directed the Lady Titans to a remarkable 27-4 finish the following year. Detroit earned the state title and was AIAW Midwest Regional runnerup in postseason play. The Titans qualified for postseason play for the second straight season in 1979-80, compiling a 25-8 record and ranking among the nation's top 20 for the majority of the season. Following that season she was nominated for National Coach of the Year.

JOYCE SAKE (1983-85)

Sake completed two seasons of Husky basketball with a 43-10 (.811) record, which included a 26-2 record her second year. She directed the Huskies to the school's first-ever appearance in the NCAA tournament in 1985, where UCLA beat the Huskies in the first round, 72-68. The 1985 season featured 21 consecutive victories. During her first season, 1983-84, the Huskies upset High Country Athletic Conference champion Brigham Young (92-79), NorPac runnerup Oregon State (64-62) and Mountain West Athletic Conference runnerup Eastern Washington (77-68).

Before her stint at Washington, Sake coached nine years at Grossmont College in San Diego, California. There, she directed the Griffins to four conference titles, and developed an overall community college coaching record of 151-52 (.744). She was also named the South Coast Conference Coach of the Year in 1979. She is the co-founder of the San Diego Summer Olympics Development League.

CHRIS GOBRECHT (1985-96)

Gobrecht put Washington women's basketball on the map. In 11 years, Gobrecht created a product that the city of Seattle embraced. It became almost a love affair with the Huskies and figures show that year in and year out, Washington women's basketball is the most attended women's collegiate program in a major city.

Beginning with her first season, 1985-86, she guided the Huskies to their second straight NCAA tournament appearance. An NCAA bid was almost mandated with every season after awhile, and the Huskies went on to nine tournaments in 11 seasons, advancing to four regionals during that span.

Each team was a winner. In 10 of the 11 seasons the Huskies had 17 or more wins. Her teams won two Pac-10 championships, most recently sharing the 1990 title with Stanford. The first Pac-10 title came in 1988. But if the Huskies weren't at the top of the Pac-10, they weren't far behind, finishing runner-up in the conference four times (in 1987, 1989, 1991, and 1995).

Gobrecht posted a lot of firsts. She was the first women's basketball coach to lead the Huskies for five consecutive seasons, to win 100 games, and to reach the 300-win milestone in her career. She also became the winningest coach at Washington in her fourth season by defeating Oregon, 71-59, January 19, 1989. Coincidentally, she reached her 300-win plateau against Oregon in 1995.

Gobrecht was visible on the international scene, too. In the summer of 1990, she served as assistant coach for one of the USA Basketball Select teams that traveled to Czechoslovakia and Italy. And in the summer of 1989, she coached the silver medal-winning East Team at the U.S. Olympic Festival.

Chris Gobrecht built the fortress that is now home of a nationally recognized program. Washington women's basketball arrived, so to speak, nearly a decade ago, and unlike many programs, has stayed.

June Daugherty
(1996-07)

Tia Jackson
(2007-present)

JUNE DAUGHERTY (1996-07)

June Daugherty spent 11 seasons at the helm of the Washington women's basketball program, compiling a record of 191-139 (.579) and a 113-85 (.571) mark in Pac-10 play. She guided the Huskies to six NCAA Tournament appearances including a trip to the NCAA Elite Eight in 2001 and three appearances in her last five years (2003, 2006, 2007).

During that same 2000-01 season, the Huskies won a share of the Pac-10 title and finished in a tie for second the following two years.

Daugherty was one of 25 finalists for the 2003 Naismith Coach of the Year Award, a year that saw the Huskies post a 22-8 record and earn a trip to the NCAA Tournament.

In addition to six NCAA appearances, the Huskies also made three trips to the postseason WNIT during her tenure. Daugherty coached the only Husky to ever win a Pac-10 Player of the Year honor in Giuliana Mendiola and guided the careers of five Kodak District VIII All-Americans: Mendiola, Loree Payne, Megan Franza, Jamie Redd and Amber Hall.

In addition to the success her players enjoyed on the court, 16 Daugherty-coached players combined to earn 55 selections to the Pac-10 All-Academic Team (first, second and honorable mention).

Note: Year indicates spring of season lettered.

The 1973-74 Washington team was the first women's team to play a game in Hec Edmundson Pavilion. The UW women beat Washington State in a doubleheader with the men's team.

Here is a compilation of Husky players and the uniform numbers they were assigned since women's basketball became a varsity sport under Intercollegiate Athletics in 1975. A roster for the 1975 team is not available in the University of Washington's Athletic Communications department archives. Anyone with information about the 1975 team is encouraged to contact the UW Athletic Communications office to share that information. Years indicate spring of that season (i.e., 2004 indicates the 2003-04 season and 2002-04 indicates three seasons, etc.).

DOUBLE-DOUBLES SUMMARY

Fifty-seven Washington women's basketball players have combined to achieve 432 double-doubles in the program's 34-year history. In those games, the Huskies have amassed a record of 267-93, for a remarkable .742 winning percentage. Only one Husky, Margaret Nielsen, has achieved a triple-double, combining 15 points, 20 rebounds, and 10 assists in an 82-69 win over the rival Washington State Cougars on March 4, 1978.

Nielsen established her place in Washington history on December 16, 1976, when she scored the Huskies' first recorded double-double, pouring in 19 points and pulling down 15 rebounds in a 60-58 victory at Boise State.

Hall's 48 career double-doubles ranks first all-time at Washington and may never be eclipsed. Second to Hall is former Husky Carlin McClary (1988-91) with 30 career double-doubles. Only five other Husky women have achieved even 20 or more career double-doubles.

HISTORY

Women's basketball was elevated to intercollegiate status beginning with the 1974-75 season, when women's athletics merged with the UW Intercollegiate Athletic Department. Prior to that, women's basketball competed on campus as a club sport and records are incomplete. All UW women's basketball records date from 1974-75 to the present.

HISTORY • Bank of America Arena

Bank of America Arena at Hec Edmundson Pavilion is the primary home for the Husky women's basketball team. The 2007-08 season marked the 82nd season of service for the multi-purpose facility. The 2000-01 season featured the re-opening of the Arena after a major, 16-month long, top-to-bottom overhaul.

Built in 1927, the Pavilion was dedicated on December 27 of that year, with the Husky men's team defeating Illinois, 34-23, in the inaugural game.

The Husky women outgrew the Hec Edmundson Pavilion Addition (600-seat capacity) more than 20 seasons ago, and established a women's basketball school attendance record of 3,832 in its NCAA first-round game against UCLA in Hec Edmundson Pavilion in 1985. That record was eclipsed in 1988 when the Husky women welcomed its first sellout crowd of 7,882 to Hec Edmundson for the NCAA second-round game against New Mexico State on March 19, 1988. Washington established a new women's basketball school attendance record when 8,408 filled the building for the Huskies' 111-77 win over UCLA on Feb. 1, 2003. The 2003 season also saw the Huskies welcome back-to-back home crowds of over 8,000 for the first time in school history. During that year, the women teamed with the men to set a combined attendance record at Hec Edmundson Pavilion.

The Hec Edmundson Pavilion cost more than $600,000 to build, the money being raised as a bond issue and an appropriation from the state legislature. Numerous improvements have been made to upgrade and modernize the facility prior to the recent, major renovation. The most recent was a project to renovate the concourse areas, including the installation of carpeting and banners. Chair-back seats were added on three sides of the court and a press area was created along the north sideline in 1991.

Seating capacity fluctuated over the years. With an original capacity of 9,600, the seating was increased in 1947 with the addition of bleachers. In 1970, that capacity was reduced again to 9,400 with the installation of padded theater seats. After spending nearly three decades with a capacity of 7,900, the new Bank of America Arena now holds 10,000.

The UW single-game collegiate attendance record was set when 12,242 fans saw the UW men's team capture the 1951 Northern Division title over rival Washington State. The overall attendance record is 12,961 set by the crowd for the semi-finals of the 1957 state high school basketball tournament. When it was reconfigured in 1985 to a capacity of 8,000, the largest women's crowd was the 8,170 for UW's NCAA second-round win over DePaul in March of 1990.

Originally known as the University of Washington Pavilion, the building was dedicated to the Huskies' long-time basketball and track mentor, Clarence S. "Hec" Edmundson, on Jan. 16, 1948. Additionally, the Pavilion provided a venue for the Huskies' indoor track and field season and was used for conditioning purposes for all Washington athletes.

A new videoboard was installed in the arena in 2006-07, improving the fan experience at Husky basketball games.
