BANK OF AMERICA ARENA AT HEC EDMUNDSON PAVILION HOST OF THE 2004 NCAA WEST REGIONAL

The Husky women were the first to christen the new floor at Bank of America Arena. After a 16-month renovation, the Arena opened in November, 2000, when the Huskies took on top-ranked Connecticut. The game drew 7,181 fans and a large television audience.

The new configuration of Bank of America Arena provides media covering games with prime locations.

Bank of America Arena combines the beauty of the old Pavilion with all of the most modern amenities.

BANK OF AMERICA ARENA AT HEC EDMUNDSON PAVILION

Bank of America Arena at Hec Edmundson Pavilion is the primary home for the Husky women's basketball team. The 2002-03 season marked the 77th season of service for the multi-purpose facility. The 2000-01 season featured the re-opening of the Arena after a major, 16-month long, top-to-bottom overhaul.

Built in 1927, the Pavilion was dedicated on December 27 of that year, with the Husky men's team defeating Illinois, 34-23, in the inaugural game.

The Husky women outgrew the Hec Edmundson Pavilion Addition (600-seat capacity) more than 20 seasons ago, and established a women's basketball school attendance record of 3,832 in its NCAA first-round game against UCLA in Hec Edmundson Pavilion in 1985. That record was eclipsed in 1988 when the Husky women welcomed its first sellout crowd of 7,882 to Hec Edmundson for the NCAA second-round game against New Mexico State on March 19, 1988. Washington established a new women's basketball school attendance record when 8,408 filled the building for the Huskies' 111-77 win over UCLA on Feb. 1, 2003. The 2003 season also saw the Huskies welcome back-to-back home crowds of over 8,000 for the first time in school history. Last year, the women teamed with the men to set a combined attendance record at Hec Edmundson Pavilion.

The Hec Edmundson Pavilion cost more than $600,000 to build, the money being raised as a bond issue and an appropriation from the state legislature. Numerous improvements have been made to upgrade and modernize the facility prior to the recent, major renovation. The most recent was a project to renovate the concourse areas, including the installation of carpeting and banners. Chair-back seats were added on three sides of the court and a press area was created along the north sideline in 1991.

Seating capacity fluctuated over the years. With an original capacity of 9,600, the seating was increased in 1947 with the addition of bleachers. In 1970, that capacity was reduced again to 9,400 with the installation of padded theater seats. After spending nearly three decades with a capacity of 7,900, the new Bank of America Arena now holds 10,000.

The UW single-game collegiate attendance record was set when 12,242 fans saw the UW men's team capture the 1951 Northern Division title over rival Washington State. The overall attendance record is 12,961 set by the crowd for the semi-finals of the 1957 state high school basketball tournament. When it was reconfigured in 1985 to a capacity of 8,000, the largest women's crowd was the 8,170 for UW's NCAA second-round win over DePaul in March of 1990.

Originally known as the University of Washington Pavilion, the building was dedicated to the Huskies' long-time basketball and track mentor, Clarence S. "Hec" Edmundson, on Jan. 16, 1948. Additionally, the Pavilion has provided a venue for the Huskies' indoor track and field season and was used for conditioning purposes for all Washington athletes.

Former Huskies Loree Payne (left) and Emily Autrey (right) model the Huskies' new uniforms at the unveiling of the UW's new logos and color schemes prior to the 2002 season. The men's and women's basketball, men's and women's soccer, baseball, softball and football teams all were outfitted with new uniforms, and each team had representatives on hand at the unveiling to model their new look to the media.

In April of 2001, Washington launched a new identity program resulting in new uniforms for six athletic teams, and enhanced block "W" logo, and a new secondary Husky logo, in an attempt to give the 23 athletic teams at Washington a uniform look, while maintaining the great tradition and heritage of the University of Washington Huskies. The new version of the Husky, drawn by Shelby Tiffany and Phil Long of Nike Team Sports, is a more modernistic Husky, with strong, bold features that represent character, tenacity and courage. ## THE TOTAL STUDENT-ATHLETE PROGRAM

Developed by the University of Washington Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, the Total Student-Athlete Program (TSAP) is an NCAA-affiliated Life Skills Program that focuses on the student-athlete as a whole person, helping them reach their maximum potential both on and off the field. The program provides educational experiences and services in order to develop well-balanced lifestyles for student-athletes.

The Total Student-Athlete Program will provide individuals the resources needed to realize their full potential in five areas of development:

- Commitment to Academic Development
- Commitment to Athletic Development
- Commitment to Career Development
- Commitment to Personal Development
- Commitment to Community Service

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The University of Washington is strongly committed to promoting excellence in academic achievement by its student-athletes. The Total Student-Athlete Program is an important link between the variety of programs and services developed to support student-athletes in their academic endeavors.

Student-Athlete Academic Services (SAAS) provides academic advising, financial aid and eligibility counseling, as well as a multi-dimensional tutorial program which enables student-athletes to meet the unique demands imposed by participation in collegiate athletics. SAAS allows student-athletes to reach the same standards of excellence in academic work as they do in athletics.

Services Available to Student-Athletes:

- Academic Advising
- One-on-one tutoring
- Mentoring

Throughout the year, Husky coaches and players visit schools, childrens' clubs and other community centers.

Husky players and coaches put on numerous free basketball clinics for kids in the Seattle area each year.

- Study Table
- Test Review Sessions
- Math/Science Drop-In Center
- Writing Center
- Academic Skills Workshops
- Bridge Program
- Academic Computer Center

ATHLETIC EXCELLENCE

The University sponsors broad-based athletics programs that allows every student-athlete an opportunity to perform at the highest level and against the best competition in the country. Because of the stature and tradition of the University and the quality of the athletic department, teams are in a position to compete for national championships.

The basic foundation for the successful development of an athletic program requires access to quality equipment, facilities, coaching and support services to its student-athletes. The following are a list of the services available to student-athletes:

- Strength & Conditioning Programs
- Athletic Training and Health Care
- Sports Nutrition
- Standards of Conduct
- Public Relations & Marketing
- Band and Cheer Squad

THE TOTAL STUDENT-ATHLETE PROGRAM

Several computer labs help to provide student-athletes with everything they need to succeed in the classroom.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The Total Student-Athlete Program encourages the student-athlete to develop and pursue career goals. The program allows student-athletes to explore career options, develop job search skills, build a strong resume and secure internships and permanent employment. In addition, our student-athletes have gained valuable skills for today's workplace through their sports, skills such as teamwork, cooperation, responsibility, commitment, dedication and motivation.

The Total Student Athlete Program has many resources available to student-athletes that assist them with all aspects of their career needs, including:

- Career Counseling
- Internships
- Writing Resumes & Cover Letters
- Networking
- Student-Athlete Employment Program
- Placement via the Center for Career Services
- Personal Development
- Husky Sport Psychology Services
- Alumni Mentoring Program
- SAAS Mentoring Program
- Personal Development Workshop

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Most often in the world of college sports, athletes are recognized for their "on the field" performances more than anything else. The University of Washington Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is proud of the Husky student-athletes' commitment to community service. The TSAP supports the belief that all student-athletes should use their talents to make positive contributions to the campus and surrounding neighborhoods.

Each year all 23 UW athletic programs participate in group and individual community service activities. The Huskies have participated in projects ranging from planting trees, tutoring school children, sponsoring a youth clinic and visiting a nursing home to serving meals to the homeless. Student-athletes find that participating in community service activities is a great way to help others and gain valuable experience.

Student-athletes also can earn academic credit through various internship opportunities and service-learning courses that are coordinated through University of Washington's Carlson Leadership and Public Service Office.

LEADERSHIP

The Total Student-Athlete Program is committed to fostering leadership development among student-athletes and helping them build strong foundations for their personal values and goals.

Washington Student-Athlete Advisory Council (WSAAC) serves as an advisory board to the Total Student-Athlete Program and athletic administration. Two representatives are selected from each sport and work together toward common goals providing a positive purpose and direction for their fellow student-athletes. WSAAC members receive invaluable training on leadership development, effective problem-solving techniques, team-building, communicating effectively and decision-making skills. The main purposes of the council are to:

- Promote effective communication between the University of Washington Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the student-athlete population.
- Provide student-athletes with the opportunity for input on the Total Student-Athlete Program.
- Develop effective leaderships skills so those members can serve as team (collaborative) peer leaders.
- Encourage involvement of student-athletes in campus and Seattle-area activities.

The goal of every UW student-athlete is to earn a degree. To this end, the athletic department provides numerous services.

WASHINGTON'S ATHLETIC HIGHLIGHTS

Junior guard Giuliana Mendiola was named the Pac-10 Player of the Year for 2002-03.

Only a sophomore in 2002, All-America receiver Reggie Williams smashed the school record for both season and career receiving yardage.

The Washington men's varsity eight crew won the Pac-10 championship before finishing second at the Intercollegiate Rowing Association national championships.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

As part of a renovation in the summer of 2003, new racks and platforms were installed in the Husky weight room.

Washington's strength and conditioning program is headquartered in the 12,000-foot weight room facility that houses a balance of machine apparatus and free weights as well as a variety of modern fitness equipment.

The spacious room is equipped with some 15,000 pounds of Olympic weights, 34 Olympic bars, eight Olympic benches, six incline benches, three military benches, three knee extension and hamstring curl machines, eight Olympic power racks, 60 pairs of dumbbells, six exercise bikes and three Stairmasters, as well as numerous other cutting edge apparatus.

The weight room, housed in the Graves Annex Building (which also contains the football coaches' offices as well as offices for most other sports' coaches), doubles UW's previous workout space and resources. Planned fitness programs are aided by computerized training and evaluations, video instruction, a plyometric testing area, and a sauna and jacuzzi. Apparatus representing the latest technology in fitness and strength training are continually being added to the weight room, ensuring that Husky athletes have every opportunity to excel.

Located near all of the athletes' locker rooms and practice and competition venues, the weight room is a convenient stop during the student-athletes' busy days.

A long list of Husky athletes have been voted to the National All-Strength Team.

Constant updates, new equipment and new techniques keep the Husky weight room on the cutting

ATHLETIC MEDICINE

Washington's athletic training staff consists of seven full-time certified athletic trainers, 12 student trainers and a staff of seven doctors, all working to help provide the 700-plus Husky student-athletes the best available medical care. In addition, a network of other specialists — dentists, optometrists, etc. — are all available for any of the UW student-athletes' needs.

University of Washington Sports

Medicine, located in Bank of America Arena, provides medical and orthopaedic care for the Husky athletes as well as the Seattle community. UWSM physicians include Drs. Roger Larson, John O'Kane, Trey Green, Kim Harmon, Craig Davidson and Mark Juhn. They are all fellowship trained in sports medicine and have faculty appointments and clinical practices at the UW.

The physical health and safety of all Washington student-athletes is of paramount importance to all Husky coaches and medical personnel.

To that end, the Husky training staff vigilantly continues the educational process, keeping informed on all of the various advancements in the field of sports medicine.

Above: Husky athletes have all of the latest technology at their disposal thanks to highly trained staff and the use of constantly evolving methods of care.

Left: The new, state-of-the-art training room, nearly triple the size of the old facility, opened in 2000 in the newly renovated new Bank of America Arena.

HUSKIES ON THE AIRWAVES

The Husky women's basketball team enjoys outstanding media coverage, both local and national, on television, radio and the world wide web.

The Pacific-10 Conference enjoys an outstanding television package on Fox Sports Net. Washington already has several television appearances scheduled for the 2003-2004 season, including national games on Fox Net and regional appearances on Fox Sports Northwest.

Additionally, every game is carried live on radio and can also be accessed via the internet.

The Husky radio broadcast features extensive coverage of women's basketball at Washington and in the Pac-10.

Former Husky Megan Franza (right), shown here with David Locke, made her broadcast debut last year, serving as a color analyst for Fox Sports Northwest.

Coach Daugherty and Andrea Lalum meet the press following an NCAA game.

Steve Sandmeyer, the voice of the Huskies, returns for his fifth season at the microphone in 2003-04.

Former Husky players with TV broadcaster Ann Meyers Drysdale, a Hall of Fame player.

Husky players are accustomed to TV, radio and newspaper coverage of every game.

HUSKIES IN THE COMMUNITY

UW players, through their contact with children in the community, understand their responsibility as role models.

After many home games, Husky players stay afterwards to sign autographs.

Clinics for kids are one way the players stay in touch with the community.

Husky players like Kirsten Brockman enjoy the opportunity to work and have fun with Seattle-area kids.

In 2002, Husky players signed autographs at an area mall to help raise money for the Sparrow Foundation.

HUSKIES IN THE COMMUNITY

The basketball team makes another of its regular stops at an area elementary school.

Two years ago the Huskies started a series of youth basketball clinics at community centers around Seattle. Here, former Huskies Cheryl Sorenson (back left) and Melissa Erickson gather with young girls following a summer session.

A favorite among community service activities with the basketball team is visiting Children's Hospital in Seattle. Here Sarah Keeler mugs for the camera with a new friend.

The Husky women's basketball team is one of the most active among the 23 UW sports when it comes to community service.

Andrea Lalum, who is part Chippewa and Cree, was honored in a ceremony at the United Indians of All Tribes Foundation Basketball Tournament in 2002.

Andrea Lalum, receiving a ceremonial Native American blanket, was a counselor at youth basketball camps on her reservation in Montana the last two summers.

Giuliana Mendiola and former assistant coach Shimmy Gray spend play time with a young girl at Children's Hospital.

HUSKIES ON HUMANITARIAN MISSION IN GUATEMALA

In May 2003, a group of four former Huskies – Cheryl Sorenson, Sarah Duncan, Jill (Pimley) Marlow and Megan Franza – went to Guatemala City, Guatemala, for an eight-day humanitarian mission. The group administered free camps to men's and women's basketball teams, as well as to the Guatemalan youth. The UW players brought t-shirts, shoes and assorted items to the local youth attending the camps. The girls also played a few games against the Guatemala National Team to prepare them for an international tournament.

HUSKY WOMEN'S BASKETBALL OUTSTANDING SUPPORTERS

Washington Basketball is known for its outstanding fan support. Women's basketball supporters demonstrate their enthusiasm by filling the stands, making Fast Break donations, and giving additional gifts specifically to women's basketball. This level of fan and financial support is critical to the Huskies success.

WHAT IS FAST BREAK?

Fast Break is a donor-seating program and support group for Husky Women's Basketball. A cornerstone of the team's fan base, there are approximately 500 members. Fast Break donations are directed to the athletic departments general fund, which helps support the women's basketball operating budget.

WHAT IS THE MEMBERSHIP COST?

Fast Break requires an annual $75 per seat contribution, in addition to purchasing season tickets. Fast Break gifts are 80% tax deductible.

CAN I GIVE A GIFT DIRECTLY TO WOMEN'S BASKETBALL?

Absolutely! Now more than ever, Husky Women's Basketball needs additional gifts to meet the program's ever-growing financial needs.

WHAT ARE THE GIVING LEVELS FOR GIFTS SPECIFICALLY TO WOMEN'S BASKETBALL?

There are three specific giving levels that are encouraged for additional gifts:

- Husky VIP's- $2,000 annually
- Coach's Circle- $500 annually
- A gift of any size...it makes a difference!

HOW IS THIS MONEY SPENT?

Last year, women's basketball supporters responded in outstanding ways by raising over $80,000 in private gifts to send the team to Australia. In the past, donors have purchased personalized chairs for the team locker room, a shooting machine, and other important enhancements items. Future enhancement needs include:

- Community clinics for inner city youth
- Laptop computers and editing system for team travel
- Summer bridge program for incoming freshmen
- Special equipment
- Foreign tour every four years

HOW DO I JOIN FAST BREAK OR MAKE ADDITIONAL TO WOMEN'S BASKETBALL?

It's simple! Just call Jennifer Cohen in the Tyee Office at 206/543-2234 for an application.

The women's basketball donors presented the 2001 seniors with their own UW bench chairs.

HUSKIES IN PROFESSIONAL BASKETBALL

With the introduction of two women's professional leagues in the 1996-97 season, Washington players had the opportunity to fulfill their dream of playing basketball at the next level in the United States. Rhonda Smith, Tara Davis and Karen (Deden) Westwater all played for the now-defunct American Basketball League (ABL) in its inaugural season and Tracy Thirdgill played in the 1997-98 season. Laure Savasta was the first Husky to appear in the Women's National Basketball League (WNBA) which began play in the summer of 1997. Standout Megan Franza was the most recent Husky drafted by the WNBA. The Phoenix Mercury and coach Cynthia Cooper selected Franza in with the 61st pick in the fourth round of the 2001 draft.

Additionally, Washington continues to send a number of players on to professional leagues in Europe, Australia and Japan. Most recently, LeAnn Sheets was invited to play with the league champion team in Korea the summer following her graduation.

The list of former Huskies playing professional basketball continues to grow. Here is a look at several players who have continued their careers beyond graduation:

Tara Davis	Karen (Murray) Hodgins	Laure Savasta
Karen (Deden) Westwater	Margaret Nielsen	LeAnn Sheets
Megan Franza	Lisa Oriard	Rhonda Smith
Katia Foucade	Amber Hall	Tracy Thirdgill
Laura Gonsalves	Hillary Recknor	Margie Tilbrook
Nancy (Hove) Hawkinson	Kathy Rue	Dianne (Williams) Alexander
Leteia Hughley		Jamie Redd

Rhonda Smith continued to entertain Seattle fans when she signed as a fifth-round pick with the Seattle Reign of the ABL. She played with a pro team in Taiwan during the 1995-96 season averaging 33 points and 12 rebounds per game. Smith became the first Husky to be drafted into the WNBA when the Sacramento Monarchs made the 6-foot-3 center their third-round selection (46th overall) in 2002.

Laure Savasta became the first Husky to play in the WNBA when she joined the Sacramento Monarchs in July, 1997. She continues her career by playing in the women's professional league in her native France following the WNBA season. In addition, Savasta was on the 2000 French Olympic Team that finished fifth at the Games in Sydney.

Tara Davis remained a hometown favorite when she joined the ABL's Seattle Reign in 1996, the league's inaugural season.

HUSKIES IN PROFESSIONAL BASKETBALL

Jamie Redd, Washington's all-time scoring leader, played for the WNBA's Seattle Storm. A 5-foot-11 guard, she became a focal point of the team offense in her second season, twice scoring a career-high 24 points in a game. Redd, who finished her Husky career with 2,027 points, also played professional basketball in Israel.

Amber Hall signed as a free agent with the WNBA's Orlando Miracle in 2000 and had a brief stint with the Seattle Storm in 2001. She played for the Portland Fire in 2002 and continues to play overseas.

After her college career ended, LeAnn Sheets played with Korea's top pro team.

Shannon Kelly, who went on to be a UW athletic department employee, played pro basketball in Copenhagen, Denmark after her college playing days.

HUSKIES IN INTERNATIONAL BASKETBALL

Husky Basketball begins in Seattle but it does not end there. UW players through the years have become involved with USA Basketball during the summer months and after graduation. Washington players can be seen on the rosters of several Olympic Festival Teams as well as Junior National and World Championship Qualifying Teams and Jones Cup teams

USA Basketball is currently in the midst of another four-year cycle that culminates with the 2004 Olympics in Athens, Greece, and will be selecting teams to represent the USA in international and national competitions.

USA Basketball is also involved in the sanction of U.S. basketball team tours of foreign countries and foreign basketball team tours of the U.S.

Laurie Merlino, a Pac-10 All-Star team member as a sophomore, played in the Olympic Festival in 1989.

Rhonda Smith (back row center) represented the USA on the Women's World Championship Qualifying Team that played in Argentina during the summer of 1997. She also played on the Junior National Team during in 1992-93.

Jamie Redd (squaring off against Ruthie Bolton in the Huskies' game vs. Team USA in 1996) played on the USA Basketball Women's Select team in the summer of 1998. She played in Puerto Rico, Poland and Spain with the team. Redd also played on the Olympic Festival West Team in 1995 while June Daugherty was part of that coaching staff.

Melissa Wuschnig (No. 13), who helped the Huskies advance to the NCAA Tournament in three of her four years at UW, played on two U.S. Olympic Festival West Teams (1993, '94).

Karen Deden (No. 13), a three-time All-American at UW, was a member of the USA Junior National Team that competed in Bilbao, Spain in July, 1989. She also played for the U.S. Olympic Festival West Team in 1987.

In the summer of 2002, junior Kristen O'Neill was invited to try out of the U.S. National Young Women's Team after her freshman season at the UW.

HUSKY HISTORY

ALMA MATER—Here are the lyrics to Washington's alma mater:

To her we sing who keeps the ward
O'er all her sons from seas to sea'
Our Alma Mater, Washington,
A health! a health! we give to thee.
Child of the mighty western land,
You're the mother of a mighty race;
Silent her gentle vigil holds
In Strength and purity and grace.
All hail! O Washington!
Thy sons and daughters sing glad acclaim
Through years of youth and loyalty;
And still in age we sing thy fame.
In honor thy towers stand,
Thy battlements shine in dawning light
And glow again in sunset rays.
All hail! O Washington!

BOW DOWN TO WASHINGTON —

Washington's fight song 'Bow Down to Washington' was written by Lester Wilson in 1913. Following are the lyrics to the tune, which Husky students and alumni proudly sing at Husky sporting events.

Bow Down to Washington,
Bow Down to Washington,
Mighty Are the Men
Who Wear the Purple and the Gold,
Joyfully We Welcome Them
Within the Victors Fold.
We Will Carve Their Names
In the Hall of Fame
To Preserve the Memory of Our Devotion.
Heaven Help the Foes of Washington;
They're Trembling at the Feet

The Husky Band plays a large role in creating an exciting environment for UW basketball games, making Hec Edmundson Pavilion one of the most feared home venues in the nation.

Of Mighty Washington,
The Boys Are There With Bells,
Their Fighting Blood Excels,
It's Harder to Push Them Over the Line
Than Pass the Dardanelles.
Victory the Cry of Washington...
Leather Lungs Together
With a Rah! Rah! Rah!
And O'er the Land
Our Loyal Band
Will Sing the Glory
Of Washington Forever.

PURPLE AND GOLD—Washington's school colors, Purple and Gold, were adopted in 1892 by vote of a student assembly on the original downtown Seattle campus. One patriotic group favored Red, White and Blue as the University's colors, reasoning that "since the school was named after the father of our country, our national colors should be the school's colors." The opposing faction argued that national colors should not be degraded for such everyday use. The debate was ended when a young English instructor, Miss Frazier, stood and read the following excerpt from Lord Byron's "Destruction of Sennacherib."

"The Assyrian come down
like the wolf on the fold,
And his cohorts were gleaming
in purple and gold;
And the sheen of their spears
was like stars on the sea,
And the blue wave rolls nightly
on deep Galilee."

U-DUB—Written often as UW or U of W, the most common way for Washingtonians to refer to the University of Washington is 'U-Dub' or, even simpler, just 'The U.'

Despite playing in a large city that features a full range of big league pro sports, the Husky women's team consistently ranks draws huge crowds at home games.

GAMEDAY AT BANK OF AMERICA ARENA

Excitement reigns supreme at every Husky home game. Bank of America Arena has long been one of the best home courts in women's basketball – and one of the most intimidating to visiting teams.
